TRAINING WORKSHOPS

MEDIA LITERACY & CRITICAL THINKING INTENSIVE COURSE

LAGOS, NIGERIA

This training will help participants analyse the information that they receive in a neutral, objective way.

The first part of the course addresses the biases that we- the news consumers- ourselves have, and how these can condition our perceptions and distort our understanding of the world. The second part focuses on media bias- misleading information and prejudices passed on to us by other people.

Some of the themes covered:

- How our mind works
- How we draw conclusions
- Why we make mistakes
- What to watch out for
- Different types of media bias, along with real examples of each, taken from various sources.
- Analytical techniques and tools to detect and identify biased information

The Course has a duration of approximately 22 hours, spread out over 3-4 days. The course materials, activities, and exercises are all carefully tailored to participants' specific interests and needs.

Early Registration (until April 30th): € 450
